
good suggestions from Christine for attracting attentions

Posted by Fang Wang - 2008/04/22 12:00

I don't know if this was discussed in the meeting as there was a lot I didn't understand -- since the event will be outside has CSSA thought about having a ping pong table? China is so famous for being great at this sport it would be a fun way to catch the student's attention. You could put a posters there saying "Want to play?" or "Let's Play!" and balloons with the Olympics logos.

This could be a nice way to show the idea of coming together through sports and to reach an audience of tired, stressed undergraduates on the last day of class. Most Americans don't know how to seriously play ping pong so it would need to be a relaxed game with most of them. I think you could get students' attention by having some CSSA members who are good players, play seriously to show how it is done and then have them invite the students who are watching to learn how to play.

Just an early morning thought,
Christine

=====

Re: good suggestions from Christine for attracting attentions

Posted by Fang Wang - 2008/04/22 12:01

1. who know how to make olympic logo ballons?
2. who volunteer to teach play table tennis? -- I do :)

fang

=====